

Anti-Money Laundering Policy

SalesLevers is committed to the ethical principles that underpin anti money laundering legislation. While the nature of our work makes it extremely unlikely we in SalesLevers will come across money laundering activity in our clients or suppliers, if anyone in our business knows or suspects that another person in a client or supplier is money laundering or financing terrorism, they will inform the Managing Director who will communicate with the client's or supplier's nominated officer.

